The Data Binding Library is a support library that allows us to bind user interface components in our layouts to data sources.

So, we can tie the UI with business logic, which allows the UI values to update automatically.

Benefits:

- Not to use findViewById() again.
- You don't have to create an adapter for every list, recycler view, or pager in the app.
- You can easily and efficiently handle callbacks.
- Using two-way data binding you can implement forms in your app effectively.

Thank you for reading.

If you have any question please ask from me (using Q & A or Messages).I am always happy to support you.

Happy Learning......

Anushka Madusanka